RUSSIA AGAIN IN WAR

WOMEN AT DANCE OVER HOSE EDICT

Mrs. Samuel H. Wallace, president of the Political Equality Union, and head of the committee in charge of the suffrage carnival at the Cret Theatre, at which the society girls appearing in Greek dances were stockings, puts Mayor Curley's "no hose, no show" order up to the Anti-suffragists.

She says that "somebody has been trying to injure" the suffragists, and she blames the "Antis."

She declares that the dancers had planned all along to wear stockings, and that there was no reason for the Mayor's anti-bare-foot dancing edict.

On the other hand Mrs. Susan W. Fitzgerald, of the executive committee of the Union, not only absolves the "Antis" from any blame in the matter, but brands the charge against them as "absolutely false."

Mrs. Fitzgerald also calls false a report that one of the girl dancers danced in "painted legs."

And Mrs. Henry Preston White, an "Anti" leader, says:

"We don't want to be dragged into any suffragist squabble. We didn't have anything to do with the story. We didn't take any interest in their show. None of us ever dreamed the suffragists would ever do anything not perfectly proper, so we didn't stand around ready to further the enforcement of the moral law. The whole thing seems foolish to us."

ABSOLVES "ANTIS."

"Accuse the 'Antis' that's nonsense," said Mrs. Fitzgerald. "I have my own idea as to how the story was started, but we don't blame the 'Antis.' Let me say that such publicity as this whole story gave the carnival is emphatically not the kind of publicity we want."

"We are not opposing the law, but we are adding by the law, and we will observe every official order of Mayor Curley's. But it happens that we never planned any barefoot dancing, and the story had no basis in fact. All along we had planned dancing with stockings feet and legs, and the show was given just as we originally planned it."

The show was given last night and proved a big success. The Mayor's order was the effect that barefoot dancing was forbidden.

"TRYING TO HURT US"

Mrs. Samuel H. Wallace, president of the Political Equality Union, and chairman of the committee which had charge of the affair, was indignant.

MRS. ANGLE'S DELAYED TRIAL

WOMAN'S CASE IS SUMMED UP

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., March 18.—Mrs. Helen M. Angle, the Stamford society woman, on trial here for manslaughter in connection with the death of Walter R. Ballou, will know her fate tomorrow afternoon. She was recovered from her illness, but still showing plainly the traces of the severe hours of merciless cross-examination she underwent from Hunter S. Cummings, the State's prosecutor. Mrs. Angle expressed her belief today that she would be freed on the first ballot the jury would take.

"I am innocent of any wrongdoing," she said to the reporters, and I am sure they will set me free so that I can go home to Maine with my father and be a comfort to him in his declining years."

Leonard Blomfield, Mrs. Angle's father, resumed the stand when court opened today, and told of his hurried journey from his country place in Maine, upon learning of the tragedy which had occurred in the Hippowagon building, and of the arrest of his daughter.

The witness was the object of sympathy when he told the story of Mrs. Angle's life from childhood to the present time. His voice shook with emotion as he testified.

Mr. Blomfield told of several visits he made to Mrs. Angle's room in the Hippowagon building and denied much of the testimony given by the police as to the conditions in his daughter's apartment and also about the bloodstains in the hallway.

"There were bloody footprints in the hallway and on the stairs, but

1st Sea-Going Submarine Is Named Schley

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The first real transatlantic submarine to be built by any nation, was authorized today when Secretary of the Navy Daniels signed the plans for the contract recently awarded to the Electric Boat Company of Groton, Ct.

This boat, Number 52, Secretary Daniels today named the delay in honor of Admiral Winfield Scott Schley.

She will be a fast submarine, accompanying the battleships across the ocean if necessary. The Schley will have a speed of 30 knots an hour on the surface, which is much faster than any other submarine yet built or building.

When submerged she will make from ten to twelve knots. Her displacement is about 1,000 tons.

She will be twenty-two months under construction, and will cost $1,500,000.

Submarines for coast defense purposes are included in the contract plans signed today. These are the No. 12 and 13. They are similar to other coast and harbor defense submarines added to the navy in the past years.

GERMANS THREATEN REVENGE

LONDON, March 18.—A press association report from Petrograd says that the outer forts at Plesnow have fallen before the Russian attacks.

BERLIN, March 18.—French aviators have bombarded Schlettstadt in Upper Alsace and German aviators have bombarded Calais. It is announced in an official statement issued by the general staff this afternoon.

The statement admits that fighting is in progress between German and Russian planes over Prussian soil, the Russians having been able to cross the boundary again.

The general staff makes announcement that for every village or estate upon German soil burned by the Russians the Germans will destroy three Russian villages. It is further announced that if the Russians burn any of the German city of Nemi, public provincial capitals of Poland will be destroyed by the Germans. The statement is full of threats.

FRENCH ATTACK REPULSED.

"The French advance against the German position on the south slope of Lorette heights has been repulsed. Partial attacks by the French north of Les Meuniers in Champagne have been stopped by our counter attacks. Renewed attacks by the French last evening were repulsed with heavy losses for the enemy."

"In the Argonne district yesterday morning only one had any result. The French aviators threw bombs upon the Alsatian city of Schlettstadt, but they were unable to bring about a decision, but the German, by their bravery, have made this impossible so far, and they will continue to do so until peace is obtained."

Report Heavy British Loss in Men and Officers

BERLIN, March 18.—Information given today by the Overseas News Agency and attributed to the London Daily Citizen, summarizes 400 officers and 15,000 privates in a partial list of British dead. The table follows:

Artillery losses, 224 officers, 2,773 men; Ninth Lancashire, 31 officers, 289 men; Coldstream Guards, 125 officers, 1,881 men; Scots Guards, 69 officers, 1,481 men; Grenadier Guards, 74 officers, 1,555 men; one battalion of Irish Guards, 51 officers, 859 men; King's Royal Rifle, (four battalions of regulars and two battalions of reserves), 113 officers, 2,198 men; Gordon Highlanders, 20 officers, 1,580 men; Black Watch (two battalions of regulars and one of reserves), 15 officers, 1,211 men.

These are the only famous regiments and represent a small part of the English army on the Continent.

May Take Month to Pass Dardanelles

MILAN, via Paris, March 18.—Prudence will govern the efforts of the admirals of the allied fleets to force the passage of the Dardanelles, according to a special correspondent of the Corriere della Sera, who gives the captain of the French hospital ship Calais as authority for his statement.

At least another month will be spent in efforts to silence the Turkish fortifications, especially those guarding the narrows at Chatal-Khalid.

Kaiser Says World Watches Champagne

AMSTERDAM, March 18.—"The eyes of the whole world are upon the fighting in Champagne," declared Emperor William in a speech to the thirty-eighth German reserves. The enemy in Champagne is increasing his forces all the time in an effort to bring about a decision, but the German, by their bravery, have made this impossible so far, and they will continue to do so until peace is obtained."

80,000 Turks Are Massed at Smyrna

ATHENS, March 18.—Eighty thousand Turkish soldiers have been concentrated near Smyrna, according to information received today from Tenedos. These troops are to be used to oppose the advance of Anglo-French forces if Smyrna falls under the bombardment of British warships.

Report Pro-German Persian Cabinet

AMSTERDAM, March 18.—According to a Tehran dispatch, received by way of Berlin, a new cabinet has been formed in Persia with Husein al-Agha as premier and minister of war. It is understood the sentiment of the new cabinet is German.

PRESIDENT CONSIDERS U.S. ACTION

WASHINGTON, March 18.—It was President Wilson's next move today in the diplomatic game between United States and the allies resulting from Great Britain's blockade controlling "all passage to and from Germany by sea."

The publication of all the notes exchanged by the governments involved showed the United States to be practically where it started in its efforts to prevent interference with the foreign trade of this country. This left only two courses open for the administration, in the opinion of officials and diplomats—to accept the form of "blockade" adopted by England and France, or make further protest against it.

Unofficial dispatches from London today stated that Denmark, Norway and Sweden have made identical representations to the allied powers against the Anglo-French policy of reprisals on German commerce. The President in his recent talks with visitors indicated that this government would take action.

TODAY'S MARKET SUMMARY

Stocks were quiet when markets opened and there was little disposition on the part of big trading interests to commit themselves. It is understood that bankers are now adverse to a speculative movement.

Business in standard issues continued dull. The war situation as it affects this country is regarded as unpropitious for expansion in any direction. Americans were lower in London, but by afternoon Canadian Pacific showed a small gain there. The Bank of England's weekly statement was better than the last previous one, showing the proportion of reserves to liabilities to be 25.24 per cent. Last week it was 24.47.

Prices had a wavering tendency in New York at the start. Union Pacific was unchanged at 110, St. Paul off 1/4 at 44 1/2, Reading was off 1/4 at 34 1/2, Bethlehem Steel was up 1/4 at 31 1/2, Southern Pacific was off 1/4 at 34, and Amalgamated was up 1/4 at 24.

Trading in Boston was very dull at the start. American Telephone was up 1/4 at 110, Alaska was off 1/4 at 2 1/2, and North Boston was off 1/4 at 24.

New York cotton market opened "fully steady, with prices four to five points lower. The Liverpool set was weaker. In Chicago May set opened at 4, lower at 14 1/2, and was up 1/4 at 12 1/2, September was up 1/4 at 11 1/2.

King Restrained Greece from War

ATHENS, March 18.—That the downfall of the Venizelos cabinet was brought about by King Constantine's refusal to allow the country to ally itself with England and enter the war had allowed her to accept a diamond ring from him, but had protested against her accepting an antioch which Mr. Ballou at one time proposed giving to her.

"I had known Mr. Ballou for many years and his actions towards my daughter were honorable," Mr. Blomfield declared.

Use Bacons' New Tunnel Entrance

NEW YORK, March 18. Notice of appeal from the decision of Justice Alfred R. Page, refusing to allow Harry K. Thaw to be returned to New Hampshire after acquittal for kidnapping and committing him to the Tombs, was filed in the county clerk's office by Abel T. Smith, one of the Thaw lawyers.

This move, it is said, is designed to have Thaw kept in the Tombs in violation of the Mattewan Anylum law, which forbids the imprisonment of a person on appeal. This would probably take several months.

Justice Bluff is expected to grant Thaw's appeal, but Justice Bluff should refuse to grant Thaw's appeal on the arguments to be presented tomorrow by the attorneys of Thaw to be passed upon by the court.

NEW HAVEN, Ct., March 13.—Another mystery has added itself to the many puzzles which surrounded the death of Lillian May Cook, the Brooklyn typist, whose body was found on March 4, on West Park, a lonely mountain where, presumably, she has shot herself. It was Miss Cook's death which caused the double life of Virginus J. Mayo, her wealthy employer to become known.

The police secretly are trying to find out, it was learned today whether Miss Cook actually did kill herself and particularly whether she killed herself on the spot where her body was found.

They have learned that at 1:30

Rheumatism Advice

Here is a prescription for rheumatism, used all over the U. S. for many years and said to be the surest known remedy: "One ounce of Sarsaparilla, one ounce of each ounce syrup of Sassafras, Eucalypti, and Peppermint, in sufficient quantity of whisky. Use a tablespoonful before each meal and at bed time." Put the ingredients in the whisky and let stand for two hours before adding the other ingredients. Add water to make a quart. Get ingredients at any grocery store. Genuine Toris comes in sealed yellow glass bottles put up by Globe Pharmaceutical, Dayton, Ohio.

Sweaty and Sore Feet

These annoying and embarrassing troubles can easily be overcome. Here is the quickest and safest remedy known. Two tablespoonsful of Calo-rite compound in a warm foot bath gives instant relief. Don't endure foot torture of any kind. By this method corns and calluses can be peeled right off and sore blisters removed. It acts through the pores, removing the cause. Large box of Calo-rite Compound is available at any general store. Prepared at Medical Formula Laboratories, Dayton, Ohio.

What Cadum Is Made of Cadum, the well-known remedy for Eczema and other skin troubles, is one of the very few preparations sold in drug stores that is not secret. A list of its ingredients is printed on every box. One ingredient is of old caducate use. It is the one that has been found to be the best thing known for Eczema. Another ingredient is zinc oxide, which dries up the water that forms upon sore places on the skin. Two other ingredients are petroleum and vasoline, which are recognized by doctors as being one of the best ways to keep the skin from drying out. These two come partly from the air and water. A trial box of Cadum can be secured in any drug store for 30c, but it is cheaper to buy the 25c size, as it contains nearly four times as much.

limousine automobile with all lights out drove to the top of the mountain.

After the machine had remained on the height for a time, it came back over the same course, still with unlighted lamps. It was traveling a high speed.

This story, which came to the ears of the police for the first time today, gave rise to several peculiar prob-

When Lillian Cook disappeared from her room in the Y. W. C. A. building here, leaving behind her note which indicated that she intended to commit suicide the first place that searchers went to look for her body was West Rock. She had been there several times and had remarked that it was a lonely, unfrequented place in the winter and that it would be an ideal spot for

ITALIAN CABINET IN WAR COUNCIL

ROME, March 10.—An extraordinary meeting of the Italian cabinet, believed to be a council of war, was held today. In the morning Prince von Bülow, the German Ambassador to Italy, is making what may prove his final effort to prevent war between this country and Austria. Following the refusal of Emperor Francis Joseph to make territorial concessions to Italy, by ending Trent, the German Ambassador made fresh representations to the Italian government for a prolongation of negotiations.

It was believed that the object of the cabinet council today was to decide whether these negotiations should be continued or whether war should be declared.

In addition to these efforts being made in diplomatic circles, the pressure of the Italian cabinet.

The Italian authorities have ordered the evacuation of all German subjects from the Italian frontier, according to a new agency dispatch from Rome.

Extensive troop movements are under way in Austria-Hungary. This is shown by a dispatch from Vienna, saying that all trains running to the Italian frontier have been stopped, the lines of alcohol or alcoholic liquors in military purposes.

LADIES' DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Look years younger! Use Grandmother's recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur and nobody will know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmothers' time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded, streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by using at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Worth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is equally good for dandruff, dry, flakey, itching scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it cures the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been touched. It is made of the purest of sage and sulphur, and is as simple as a cake of soap. It is the only hair dressing that restores the gray hair to its natural color and keeps it so. MARY E. H. SWEENEY of Providence, who has secured injunction against rival shorthand teacher.

Providence, March 18.—Miss Mary E. H. Sweeney, the fair proprietor of a shorthand school, who has been granted an injunction restraining Max Magnus, a rival shorthand teacher, from soliciting former pupils, said today that she believed in "live and let live."

Miss Sweeney appealed to the Superior Court for an order to restrain Magnus from soliciting former pupils, including people not to attend her school. Several pupils attended the hearing before Presiding Justice Zander, who granted Miss Sweeney's petition in part, in that Magnus is enjoined from soliciting former pupils.

Miss Sweeney alleged that Magnus was operating a "pick" system, as well as teaching shorthand to her pupils.

"No, I am not a pick," said Miss Sweeney. "I am a teacher. My mind is otherwise occupied. But I believe in 'live and let live.' All I ask to be allowed to do business. I have never sold, but have been annoyed by Mr. Magnus. I know of no other shorthand teacher who does not enter a legitimate business."

LOYAL TOASTS BY CHARITABLE IRISH

Warriors to America to avoid being taken into war, received of pledges of allegiance to the Stars and Stripes, and arraignment of bigotry or factional intolerance tending to divide the country, were features of the celebration of St. Patrick's Day by the Charitable Irish Society's 17th annual banquet.

Mayor Curtis, stoutly claiming his absolute neutrality, declared himself in favor of a strict embargo on the export of all food and munitions of war from this country to any belligerent.

"Right and might," he said, "have ever been mortal enemies, and the same God that would not let might conquer right at Yorktown, will not today permit any nation, solely by might, say 'I am mistress of the seas.' I am dictator of the world."

The Mayor recalled "the time of our nation's trial in '82, when the hiring of Indians to scalp colonists in the struggle of the thirteen original States to win independence. All this he turned into offering an appeal for support for the Wilson administration in the present policy."

LAUS IRISHMEN.

Mayor Curtis responded to the toast "The City of Boston Governs Values to the East," "The Commonwealth of Massachusetts," Congressman Thomas L. Reilly of Connecticut responded to "The Irish in America," A. C. Ratschky to "Our Sister Societies," and Charles W. Boothworth of Springfield to "The United States of America."

Congressman Reilly, responding for "The Day We Celebrate," praised the devotion of the Irish race to American institutions and ideals and their service in every war this nation has had.

"In war destruction, in peace construction, in a word that all may drink to the Irish," he said, "the narrow minded and narrow minded American, whose sole idea of true Americanism is based on this soil."

He declared that they "believe the church which is the bulwark today against the forces of evil, and that they do it 'under the guise of champions of education."

QUOTES WASHINGTON.

Governor Walsh declared that those who question the loyalty of Irishmen are small in number, though sometimes they appear to influence a great number.

"The State Constitution was adopted with the idea of guaranteeing to every race happiness and prosperity," he said, "and any attack on a particular race is an assault on the principle for which that Constitution stands."

He also expressed his gratification that the Jewish people are to be in the future in close touch with the Irish Charitable Society on St. Patrick's Day.

He assured his hearers that the 100,000 Jews represented by his federation had no sympathy with the recent efforts at the State House in behalf of an amendment believed by many to be the result of the "hate" of the origin, and he expressed the hope that the near future would see the federation of all local Jewish and Catholic societies working for the same end—the relief of human suffering.

DORCHESTER MAN HELD UP, ROBBED

The police are working today on cases of the holding up or citizens in three sections of Boston. Two hold-up men, one of them masked, confronted Jacob Levine, proprietor of a meat market at No. 105 Beantown street, while he was on his way home, on Elm street, Dorchester, and forced him, at the point of a gun, to give up $14.

Levine described the masked man as short and wearing a black overcoat and black hat. The other was twenty-five, five feet eight inches tall and wore a gray overcoat and black suit hat.

Michael Gurin, of Middlesex street, while near the corner of Castle and Washington streets, was set upon by two men, who gave him a bad beating and robbed him of $13. Gurin drew his pocketknife and stabbed one of the men in the neck.

Orphan Asks $50,000 Heart Balm from a New York Attorney

NEW YORK, March 18.—James W. Osborne, who as assistant district attorney of New York County, gained country-wide prominence through his criminal prosecutions, has been sued for $50,000 by Miss Rae Tanner, an orphan who works in a factory. She charges that Mr. Osborne promised to marry her and failed to do so.

It is said that the attorney and Miss Tanner met as the result of an accident to a wagon of street cars and that they fell into conversation. The lawyer introduced himself, and the meeting, it is charged, led to the alleged promise of marriage some weeks later. Mr. Osborne is married and has a son.

BUSH URGES U. S. TO BUY RAILROAD

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—President B. F. Bush, of the Missouri Pacific, Denver & Rio Grande and Western Pacific railroads, declared he favored government ownership of the Western Pacific if a majority of the people wanted it.

Discussing the plan suggested by William Randolph Hearst for the purchase by the government of the Western Pacific properties and the subsequent action of the California Legislature in introducing a resolution calling for the purchase of the property by the State of California, Mr. Bush said:

"The plan of reorganization now being arranged by William Salmon & Co., Blair & Co., and William A. Hearst, of New York, will soon be given up."

"Then if the people of the United States or the people of California want to go into railroading there is an excellent chance for them to do so."

"The government valuation of the Western Pacific will be ready in about sixty days. The valuation by the State is being made."

"The trouble with the Western Pacific is well known to every railroad man. It is no violation of business ethics to state it. The Western Pacific is a great long stem, perhaps ten miles long, without proper feeders, terminals and industry tracks, which are the life and blood of any railroad system."

"To give the Western Pacific the proper feeders and terminals in California to meet the traffic conditions enjoyed by its competitors, would involve the expenditure of between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000."

"The Western Pacific has not the money, nor do I know where it can get the money. I do not know where any railroad in the United States can borrow what it needs."

"Government ownership can be made a success, because the government can go as it pleases. If all expenses and interests on the bonds are paid by the railroad under government ownership, the people will take up the difference."

"Scotchy Square" is a play in three acts in concourse with the House.

B. F. BUSH, president of the Western Pacific Rail- road, who says he is in favor of the Federal government buy- ing the road.

Romance of Lace Leads to Altar

SOUTH NORWALK, Ct., March 18.—Mrs. Robert Mangering of St. Louis, Mo., found a little name and age written on a piece of lace. The girl who wrote the name "on a date" is today Mrs. Mangering.

The wedding took place at St. Mary's rectory here after a year's waiting by mail. Mrs. Mangering was Rose Aartha, the daughter of the superintendent of the Dresden lace works, where the lace was made. She is twenty-one and pretty.

ROMANCE BRIDE IS LEFT FORTUNE

NORTH ADAMS, March 18.—After giving up a rich home to come to this country to seek a fortune, Mrs. Emil Kalkbrenner now finds that she is left a fortune from her father's will, as she supposed, had never forgiven her for writing against his wishes. She has received official information that she inherits equally with her six brothers and sisters and left by her father. She believes the facts are worth fiction. Under the equal division provided by the will Mrs. Kalkbrenner's share should be worth $100,000.

WOMEN SAVED AT LOWELL FIRE

LOWELL, March 18.—Several women and children were carried down ladder to the street by firemen, early today, at a two-alarm fire which, according to fire department officials, caused damage of $15,000 to Suffolk Hall, a twenty-four-story building, at Market and Suffolk streets.

Among the rescued was Mrs. Nicholas Lepore, who recently underwent an operation at the Lowell General Hospital. Firemen wrapped her in blankets and carried her to a neighbor's home.

The fire started in the store of Peter Lanthier on the first floor.

Youth Unable to See After Using Cake of Tar Soap

Francis Goodwin, twenty, who was unable to see after washing his face with a tar soap in the drug shop of James T. Simon at No. 154 Moody street, Wallingford, where it is declared doubtful if the sight can be restored. The doctors think perhaps in the soap ate into the membranes of the eyes.

WOMEN AMONG DRUG CAPTIVES

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 18.—Pleading for her life as soon as the entire supply of which had been consumed by the police in raids last night, thirty drug addicts, including two women, surrendered to police Chief Woodruff today. His belief is that number will reach a hundred before the week is out.

Because of the wholesale surrender it was necessary to throw open the municipal hospital on the mezzanine, heretofore used only as a guest house for treatment of the drug slaves. They will be sentenced to spend thirty days in charge of city physicians who have volunteered to treat them.

What would you do with this baby?

His father died last week. The mother, unable to support it, has appealed for help to her state government, which gives a small amount of money for parentless children. Massachusetts has a widowed mothers' pension law, but New York and other states say the mother must give up her child and put it in an asylum if it is to live, for the state refuses to give her the money and instead hands it to an asylum!

Fighting this absurd ruling, leading women of the nation, including Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, says—give that money to the mother, as Massachusetts does, instead of an asylum. Let the child grow up under the light of mother love.

To understand—come and see

Here is a lesson, and a sermon: a play and a tragedy; an epic to mother love and a cry of help for the babies. "THE PARDON" is a three-act play by Pathe Freres, by a great cast, including Miss Thelma Lawton, Mr. Howard Hall, Mr. Perry Standing. The play is a preachment for WIDOWED MOTHERS' PENSIONS, and is endorsed by the advocates of that bill, being produced under the auspices of the

Senate Bill No. 249 Should Be Enacted Into Law

It Requires Corporations to File Regularly With the State Tax Commissioner a List of Names and Addresses of All Massachusetts Residents Who Hold the Bonds of These Corporations.

There is pending in the Legislature a bill, known as Senate No. 249, which requires corporations, subject to the jurisdiction of Massachusetts, to file regularly with the Massachusetts Tax Commissioner a list of the names and addresses of all Massachusetts residents who hold the bonds of these corporations.

It is a bill which ought to be enacted into law because it will enable the Tax Commissioner to compel these bond holders to pay their fair share of taxation, if now they are escaping it by reason of the ignorance of the Tax Commissioner concerning their liability.

Our taxes in Massachusetts are mounting higher every year, and as our civilization progresses they will continue to mount higher, because every year the State is doing more and more for its citizens. More and more what was left to chance and to a disorganized, feeble, individual effort is now being done by the organized power of the whole people, acting through the government. The development of our health laws and regulations, our hospitals, our schools for the defective, our schools for vocational and agricultural training and their coming development, our mothers' pensions, our workmen's compensation and minimum wage laws, our savings bank insurance and all the directions in which the State is progressing, as our great, universal parent, make the question of taxation of especial importance and require us to be sure that no man escapes his fair share of the cost of these benefits, of which the government is giving us more and more.

It Is a Good Idea to Look Into Telephone Conditions

If Nothing Worth Is Revealed, Public Discontent Will Be Alleviated—If Anything Is Found Which Needs Correction, the Public Will Be Benefited

The AMERICAN is gratified that the Public Service Commission has recommended the investigation of telephone conditions in this State. It is badly needed and ought to be thorough.

The investigation, if it reveals nothing wrong in connection with the telephone company, will be very helpful to that public utility because it will allay discontent for a long period. On the other hand, if there should be revealed matters which need correction, then the public will be benefited by the investigation.

In New York the recent public inquiry compelled such a reduction of telephone rates that the people using the telephones will now be saved more than $3,000,000 a year in the cost of telephone service.

The AMERICAN will not prejudice the Telephone Company pending this investigation. It is understood that the company is not opposed to holding an inquiry into its affairs. This is a good sign, IF IT IS ALSO PREPARED TO SUBMIT TO A COMPLETE investigation, which alone would be final in its character.

The Gift of Two Scientists to Science

The Money They Have Made in Curing the Sick They Have Given to the Same Cause in Which They Have Spent Their Lives

Copyright, 1915, by The War Observer.

You hear often of men who have grown rich in industry giving great sums of money to science—founding institutions of medical research and for the benefit of humanity.

You do not often hear of men who have grown rich in the practice of a profession giving the money they have made that their profession may be extended and made of wider benefit.

That is what two eminent surgeons in the West have done. The money they have earned in the practice of surgery they now offer to the State in which they live, that an institution may be founded to advance human knowledge of disease and its cure.

This is a gift that will not be questioned. The men who have made it have earned high distinction.

People come from all over the country to be treated by them. They have done wonderful things in their profession, and have been tremendously successful.

They now offer a million dollars for the establishment of a school in which other physicians may make at leisure investigations which they have not had time to make because of the great demand for their services.

There is more than charity in such a gift as this. There is real human service.

These men feel that even they have much to learn about disease and its treatment.

But so great is their skill that it is wiser that they apply it to the immediate relief of those who ask their help.

But knowing the tremendous value of careful study, they place other and younger men in a position to take up the work they would like to take up, to earn fame and credit in new lines, and to be of still greater use to humanity.

Had these men chosen to enjoy the wealth they have accumulated, no one would have begrudged it to them. They have earned it. Had they even elected to retire and spend their money in any way they had seen fit, the world would still have owed them a debt of gratitude.

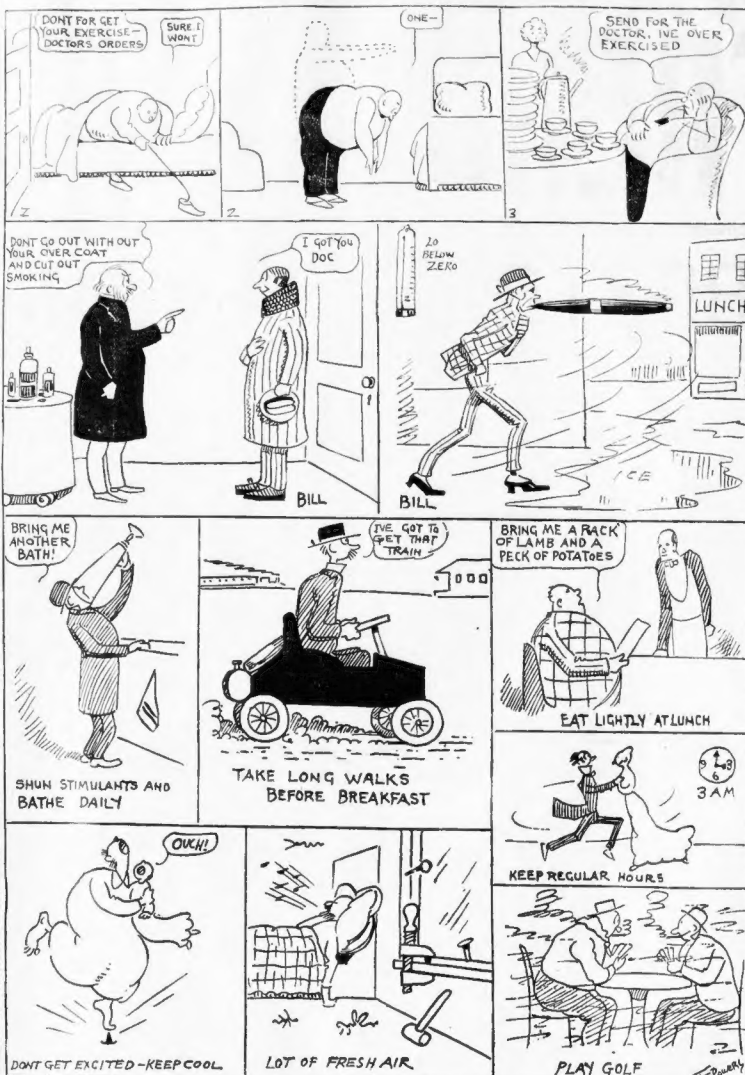

What they have done makes the people still more their debtor and should establish their fame for all time to come.

The Eternal Conflict Between the Sexes

Their Ineradicable Differences Make Men and Women Repel as Well as Attract Each Other and Render Matrimony Most Hazardous

By DOROTHY DIX

IN a recent divorce case a letter was introduced in the evidence in which the man wrote these words to the woman:

"You once told me that the reason that you hated me was just because I was your husband. I now think that the only reason that I hated you was just because you were a woman, and that the things that I objected to in you were merely the faults of your sex."

I wonder if this man has been diagnosed not only his own case, but that of most of the unhappily married, and if the source of the discord between practically all warring husbands and wives is not due to the eternal conflict between the sexes?

In this case the woman's grievance against the man was not so much what he had done, or left undone, but that he was her husband. She chafed at her bondage to him. She rebelled at his society depending upon him, and subject to his whims and caprices. His society got upon her nerves because she had it in her husband. If he hadn't been her husband, or a friend, she would have liked him well enough.

"Wife" and "husband" are either the sweetest words or the bitterest that we ever take upon our tongues, and their flavor depends not upon what the woman or man that we are united to may be, or not, but upon our own state of mind.

Many a woman hates a perfectly good man for no reason on earth except that he is her husband. Many a man hates a woman who is little short of angelic just because she is his wife, and that is the reason that so many married couples go about with chips upon their shoulders and pick quarrels with each other on the slightest pretence.

In reality these people's grudges are not against the individual to whom they are united in the holy bonds of wedlock. It is against matrimony as an institution. It is the sense of bondage that they cannot endure with patience, not the faults of a particular individual.

Also what many men and women object to in their wives and husbands is not some personally disagreeable quality, but the peculiarity of the opposite sex.

For instance, there are women whose ideal of a perfect husband is a man who neither drinks nor smokes nor uses any explosive stronger than "Oh, fudge," and who comes straight home from the office at six o'clock and spends the balance of the evening in wiping the dishes and mending the wall paper and straightening the pictures.

Such a woman would be perfectly happy if united to a man who would fill in his leisure time by crocheting pink baby socks, and whose idea of enjoyment would be to go to a brownish society or a mothers' meeting with her.

But when a woman of this type marries a rough, rude, male person, with strictly masculine tastes, who comes home smoking of tobacco and beer, and who can't be brought to see how much more pleasure he would really get out of spending his money for lace curtains for the parlor than for cigars, why, trouble begins.

Personally the man may be good and kind and generous and tender and true. As an individual she can find no fault with him, but what she doesn't like in him are the faults of his sex. It shocks and disgusts her that he wants to go to a brownish society and likes to shoot things, and that he occasionally stays out too late and drinks more than is good for him. In a word, he isn't ladylike and congenial to her.

And there are many men who object to their wives on exactly the same ground. They find fault with the ladies because they have the qualities of women, and not men.

For example, when a man desires his wife for her ignorance and accuses her of being a large-brained idiot, it is always because she doesn't know the same line of things that he does. She may be a model housekeeper, a manager that can get five times more out of a dollar than he can, and able to construct her gown and hats with a skill that dazzles even her best friends into thinking they are improved. But the constant lack of intelligence because she looks blank when he talks about a holding pool, or about underwriting a new bond issue. Yet heaven help the Morgans or Rockefellers if they were put to it to work out a cut paper pattern that any little girl can do with one hand tied behind her!

It is literally true that what the average man dislikes in his wife are the faults of her sex. He dislikes her for the qualities of him that makes her transmute over for fear somebody will get him away from her. He dislikes her lack of promiscuity and decision of character. He dislikes her ignorance of the things that he knows and her lack of sympathy with the amusements he enjoys, and, above all—though he never acknowledges this to himself—he dislikes having to deny himself pleasures he craves and things he wants because he has to pay her bills and support a family.

It is the ineradicable differences between the sexes that make them repel as well as attract each other, and that is why matrimony is always bound to be the most hazardous enterprise in which human beings can ever engage.

Among the latest difficulties to confront the divorce courts is deciding whether the husband or the wife should have the custody of the car. It must be heartbreaking to parents to have to give up the car they've raised.

Indoubtedly you've read those articles in the magazines—those that tell how a tired clerk of fifty-five bought two acres of rock in South Norway, three years ago and now makes $10,000 a year out of her alone. These articles have two peculiarities: They are anonymous, and they're full of little tables giving the total cost of materials, labor, etc.

Now this story is anonymous, and also has plenty of genuine statistics. I am fifty-eight years of age, married, three children, wear 10% shoes, 6 hat, 24 collar. For ten years had been receiving letters in a quiet-lunch and had saved up $122.39 and a bad cough. One day a stranger told me the air in the country was better than that in the lunch room, and I took his word for it.

That casual remark was the cause of my moving to New Zealand. With ambition to live in the country, I spent all my spare time between trains in wandering around, hunting. At last, one beautiful day in May, I saw just the place I wanted. It was a rocky hilltop covered with wild flowers, as I was told later, although I couldn't see anything so very wild about them. The front of the hill, I figured, was about two tunnel trains long, and the plot was about three trains deep.

I found the owner of the property by the simple expedient of walking on it. A man from a nearby field chased me with a pitchfork for more than a mile before I could explain that I wanted to buy the place. He looked curiously at me for some time and then said: "Be you a fugitive from justice?"

Having convinced him that I wasn't fleeing from anything but city life, I asked the price. The man took so long in answering that I exclaimed: "Step lively!" which so startled him that he replied: "How much have you got?"

"One hundred and twenty-two dollars," I answered, my instinct telling me it was shrewd business policy to conceal my possession of the other half bean.

"You can have the place for $121.84," said the man, "and that'll leave you 50 cents for expenses."

I counted out the money, which I had drawn from the bank some days before, and became the owner of Hillcrest Farm.

My wife was a little doubtful about the farm at first, but when I showed her the following figures she saw that I had a bargain:

Expended.....	$121.84
Walking instead of cartage.....	10
Health.....	10
Called by tolling farmer.....	10.00
Only had $122.....	50
Profit (estimated) on sale of wild flowers.....	75.00
Rock on property for building.....	1,000.00
Total.....	$1,063.00
Thus my little farm had already brought me a profit of $941.16.

How I built my beautiful home and developed Hillcrest Farm must be told in another article.

HOME

By JANE M'LEAN

FAR on the hills the stranger knows
Cool and mysterious, lure away
The heart that beckoned, dreaming goes.
And going, does not plan to stay.

Into the dawn the roving heart,
Its quiet unattained, will ride;
Longing to find itself a part
Of all the stranger world outside.

Yet when the shadows drooping fall
The roving heart forgets to roam,
And beckoning harbor lights recall
The warmth and mystery of home.
